President's Message

Dear Friends and Compatriots,

My dear friends and fellow compatriots, the following is one (1) of a bittersweet message as this will be my last update in the Pelican Patriot as your State President.

I want to take this opportunity to thank the Louisiana Society of the Sons of the American Revolution for giving me the privilege to serve as your State President. It is a Privilege and my hope that the members of the LASSAR understand fully, that I have served to the best of my abilities with the purpose of enhancing our Society mission of educating as many as possible, the real source of the Founding of Our Nation, our Ancestors, who brought us our Liberty. You, the members of the LA SAR, have advanced the understanding of the Sacrifices of the Founding of Our Nation, our Ancestors, who brought us our Liberty. You, the members of the LA SAR, have advanced the understanding of the Sacrifices made by our Revolutionary Ancestors that started us on the path of Freedom and our obligation to continue carrying the Flag of Freedom and pass it along.

Our journey over the past year has been one (1) that has born a great deal of fruit. Due to your had work as a Society, we have grown by a modest two percent (2%). You have established the 250th Anniversary Committee to help in our Nations 250th Birthday in 2026. Your vote on the 137th Congress help to put the SAR Southern District on the path of being the First District in the history of the NS SAR to host a National Congress. We already started to raise financial funds for the 137th Congress and each Chapter in our Society will be making their own contributions (chapter fund raising events) as the process continues through 2027. The body has voted to support the 137th Congress with a $3.00 annual assessment and additional avenues of raising monies is being put forth by many members of the LA SAR and by all the other Societies in the Southern District. With my comments about financing being presented, it is the Participation of the members in the LA SAR and Southern District that will make the 137th Congress, the best in the history of the NS SAR. I look forward to seeing the Southern District show the rest of the National Society what

Southern Hospitality really looks like. The body will be looking at some future by-laws changes during the State Conference, that we hope will help with the dues process in the future.

I would like to also take this opportunity to thank all the Officers, Board Members, Chapter Presidents and Chapter Officers for their dedication and continued hard work in helping to improve our Society. I will leave and become a Past President knowing that our Society has the good fortune of having such great leadership across the great State of Louisiana. A hardy thanks to all of you and Geaux LA SAR Leadership!

Again, I am privileged to have had the opportunity to serve, and I am honored to have been your State President this past year. I am grateful that our ancestors had such a strong faith in God that we can rely on in these trying times. I am prayerful that we can play a part in the revival of our nation spiritually, culturally, and socially.

Most respectfully,

LASSAR ATTAKAPAS CHAPTER NEWS

Attakapas Chapter is actively pursuing a meaningful year that will benefit its compatriot membership and our whole SAR Society as well.

Our January dinner meeting at the Lafayette Petroleum Club featured guest speaker Louisiana Public Service (PSC) Commissioner Mike Francis, who spoke to our gathering about PSC duties and responsibilities and current and future issues the Louisiana PSC will address. In addition to our guest speaker presentation, our Vice President Bill McCain presented an Americanism certificate to our honoree for his proper and patriotic display of our American Flag

Later during January, a delegation of four compatriots conducted the SAR memorial ritual before the funeral of our deceased and long-time and dedicated compatriot, Gerald Lege'.

During our February Executive Committee meeting, we agreed to increase to $300.00 the monetary awards for the following youth educational competitions: Rumbaugh Orations, JROTC Enhanced Award and the Knight Essay. Already, the cadet interest in the local JROTC Enhanced Award has resulted in at least three competitors compared to none over the last two years. We are also currently planning on conducting a lively Rumbaugh Orations competition during our March dinner meeting on the 22nd.

In addition to recognizing George Washington's birthday, our February 22nd dinner meeting will feature ULL Professor Carl Richard, PhD who will speak to us about notable battles during the Revolutionary War. Dr. Richard has written a wealth of books and papers concerning our nation's founding and we are so fortunate to have him speak to us.

Attakapas Chapter is working and coordinating with the DAR Galvez Chapter on the 64th Annual George Washington Ball which will be held at the Lafayette Petroleum Club on June 17, 2023. The theme of the 2023 George Washington Ball will be the 220th Anniversary of the Boston Tea Party. All LASSAR Compatriots are invited to attend the ball and to nominate their sons, daughters and grandchildren to participate as debutantes and patriot escorts in this beautiful annual event. The SAR Attakapas Chapter is also coordinating with the DAR Galvez Chapter on several other patriotic projects representing our mutual interests.

Our Attakapas Chapter invites all of our LASSAR Compatriots to join us in our monthly meetings currently being held at the Lafayette Petroleum Club on the fourth Wednesdays of each month September through May.

John Glover b. Nov 5, 1732 (Capt. to Brig. Gen.) Service State Massachusetts – Sailor, Fishing Schooner Capt. and Colonel Marblehead militia (21st) MA regt., and d. Jan 30, 1797 at Marblehead, MA

Submitted by James Edward Mitchell NSSAR # 165184

John Glover's parents --Jonathan and Tabitha Bacon are seldom recognized other than John's father died when young John was four. His mother relocated to Marblehead, MA and as a youth John mastered his nautical skills, fishing as a 'waterman' and trading for rum as a sincere MA merchant.

By Oct, 1754, he married first, Hannah Glover, nee Gale. During 1759 John enlisted within the Essex County (MA) militia honing the utilization of small water craft and schooners to move sailors and militiamen. John Glover, Jr. a son was born Mar 23, 1756 within Marblehead, Essex County followed by Samuel in 1762 and Sarah born, Mar 10, 1771. Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolutionary War, Vol 10, pg. 691 illustrated an early military career after the war broke out in April, 1775: "John Moore, Marblehead (MA) Private in Capt. John Glover, Jr.'s (10th) company of (Lieut.) Col. John Glover's (21st) MA regt.; muster roll dated Aug 1, 1775; enlisted May 20, 1775; service 2 mos. 16 days; also, company return [probably Oct. 1775]; also order for bounty coat or its equivalent in money dated Cambridge, Dec 20. 1775."

Col. Glover's [(21st, MA) Marblehead] regt. after the British siege of Boston was lifted in Jan, 1776, followed Maj. Gen. Charles Lee and Gen. Washington with orders by the Second Continental Congress to defend New York (Manhattan).

During this defensive campaign and Aug 27, 1776 Battle of Long Island, Gen. Washington turned to Glover's direct assistance as a 'waterman' -to recruit every shallow-draft boat available upon the East River to conduct and to maneuver at night the evacuation of Washington's entire army to Manhattan. The Continental Army successfully evaded enclosure by Gen. Wm. Howe's British forces.

After the mid November capture of almost 3,000 Americans defending Fort Washington (Manhattan) at Harlem Heights, Washington's army escaped again over-waters of New York's Hudson River to Hackensack. Americans forces moved next to Trenton and south Jersey to cross the Delaware River into the Pennsylvania side, where the army encamped.

On Christmas Eve, Gen. Washington called a 2nd council of war at Maj. Gen. Nathaniel Greene's Div. HQ (1,300 men). A 1st council had been held on Dec 22, at Maj. Gen. Wm. Alexander, Lord Sterling's HQ to consider an attack upon Trenton. At this meeting Col. Glover assured Gen. Washington that enough long-boats might be hidden among the many tiny, river islands on the Delaware near the crossing lanes to be designated useful in an assault upon Trenton and Princeton, 1776-7. Washington was left to understand that his general staff must plan and execute the crossing and, march in the most severe, frigid weather imaginable!

As 1776 closed, the Continental Army had raised 27 regts. Now, their term of enlistment would expire on Dec 31st –Washington again, asked Col. Glover’s “amphibious regt.” for help! Every Delaware River water craft and long-boat must be commandeered for an American army river crossing to secretly assault the barracks at Trenton.

Glover’s Marblehead (MA) regt. successfully ferried 1,700 American soldiers many in long-boats from the Pennsylvania side of the river to the north bank upon the New Jersey side across the ice filled, frozen waters to disembark and to night-march taking Trenton in the first light over frozen, ground and snow.

This unlikely American action was unquestionably another turning point in a successful, series of surprise American military campaigns by Gen. Washington’s Staff. Ironically, Washington’s Army on Jan 2, 1777 faced Gen. Cornwallis at the Battle of Assunpink Creek, a precursor to the Oct 1781 Yorktown surrender!?

After Jan 1, 1777 Col. John Glover returned home to help an ailing wife, Hannah but she died in 1778. He retired from the American military in 1782, due to ill health. His application for a federal position was never fulfilled so, judiciously he served locally at Essex County, MA during the rest of his life.

During 1781 he married Frances Fosdick and, the couple resided at Marblehead, not far from Redd’s Pond and Pond Street, where he was buried at age 64 in a marked grave at Old Burial Hill Cem., Essex Co., MA at Latitude: 42.510169, Long.: - 70.846302. Texas SAR RevWar Graves Index

This story is offered for speech material(s) and any consideration for education to benefit any NSSAR Compatriot toward speaking publically and factually regarding an unproven, Patriot spy. The American Heroes Channel during the early evening of Thurs., Mar 12, 2015 televised a feature segment entitled: The Empire Fights Back –Profiles..., documented during 2014. Among popularly known Patriot hero profiles to be introduced were Col. John Glover’s New England militia regt. from Marblehead, MA. They were characterized as “rough and ready” fishermen and ship chandlers accustomed to hard work under the most arduous weather conditions. They were credited for saving Gen. Washington’s American army strategically retreating overnight Thurs., Aug 29th from the British invasion of Long Island.

John Glover's New England (MA) militia and sailors capitalized the shifting wind and tides of the East River successfully returning eight or nine times via heavy boats to strategically withdraw an estimated 9,000 Patriot American soldiers from the banks of Brooklyn in a period of eleven hours that foggy night!<sup>1</sup>

Aug. 29th 1775 is a most important date in American history for recalling a wartime combined night & weather event that included not only a favorable tidal basin flow with a lifesaving 'fog' that gave Gen. Washington and the entire American Patriot army a pass from defeat! The above, televised broadcast produced upon: American Heroes Channel placed a major emphasis that neither declaration signers, like those of the Massachusetts (MA) Suffolk Resolves on Sep 9, 1774, nor speech givers of Independence were popularly unsung heroes and Patriots of the revolution were farmers, fishermen, mechanics and fearless volunteer state militiamen early in the War for Independence.

Surprisingly, for me the name John Honeyman was introduced as a Patriot spy and an operational double agent introduced during the ten (10) day campaign at Trenton and Princeton but, "hold on..., whose side first introduces Honeyman and offers payment for his services – the British, the American (Gen. Washington) or is this individual performing for himself?" The trouble observing the televised narrative is Honeyman's initial characterization as tight lipped –unthreatening character while a pair of pistols is pointed at him by Patriot soldiers. They practically drag him to Gen. Washington's winter camp headquarters on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware River, eight miles from Hessian Col. Johann Rall's snowed-in post at Trenton, NJ.

Although skeptical, I watched the televised script of a figure representing Gen. Washington alone with Honeyman at his general staff headquarters. This is counter intuitive for me personally, with my counterintelligence (CI) background; I can't logically believe that this occurred. Yet, it is reported that during questioning Honeyman changes demeanor and shows a cooperative attitude. Now, Honeyman was favorably portrayed to the television viewer as a 'volunteer' but hardly a 'walk-in'. The viewer is lead to believe that Honeyman had been stopped and searched after making claims that he was carefully scouting the banks of the Delaware for livestock or cattle. Well, one might ask, for whom, himself or Hessian Col. Johann Rall. During his detention by Patriot militia as a latent British Tory and scout, Honeyman was characterized as withholding and uncooperative to his captures. Then, he was turned over to Washington's staff & lifeguard troops for interrogation. He spoke more openly, until being tied-up and jailed. At some point, allegedly Honeyman appeared before the Commander – in – Chief of the American Army and he was first publically credited during 1873 in a New Jersey Journal of published histories that claimed he supplied Gen. Washington (?) the precise location and disposition at Trenton for Hessian Col. Rall's (1) bttn. of Hessian grenadiers, (2 bttns) of fusiliers, a company of Hessian Jägers and the British 16th Light Dragoons (20 men). "Believe that as film screen propoganda, if you dare!"

There is an axiom in CI training for recognizing tradecraft devices that urges any serious professional to check original documented reports. Also to be prudent, you must canvas trusted sources within a timely manner and substantiate a claim against debriefing captured enemy during conflicts. None of this occurred in the 'Smoke and Mirrors' case of John Honeyman.

Incredulously, who among former U.S. Foreign Counterintelligence personnel, would believe that Gen. Washington arranged this male's alleged escape from jail in order that he might return to Trenton to the Hessian barracks for the purpose of passage of a written note briefly detailing American troop numbers. The troop numbers were: Commander – in – Chief Gen. Geo. Washington's Life Guard (75 men) and 1st Troop of Philadelphia Light Horse (25 men); Brig. Gen. Adam Stephen Division (549); (Maj. Gen. Nathaniel Greene's Div. (673); Maj. Gen. John Sullivan's Div. (865). More importantly for Rall's information was a summary characterization for the American Army's demoralized state and weakly positioned troops across the icy and partially frozen, Delaware River from Trenton, New Jersey at a river crossing encampment near a sick house (Thompson-Neely-House) for American wounded, eight miles away.<sup>2</sup>

The televised American Heroes Channel profile portrayal and vision of John Honeyman as a trusted American spy over a four (4) year period who would mysteriously pop – up, during moments of peril for Gen. Washington's Army before fading away is simply, illogical. Nonetheless, the American Heroes Channel announced that John Honeyman's double agent role assumingly to deliver misinformation to Col. Rall's post before the battle of Trenton, is no less significant for the survival of Commander – in – Chief Gen. Washington and his American Army's on Dec. 25th, 1776 than overnight on Aug. 29th 1775 when the American Army successfully escaped from an overwhelming British force at Brooklyn and Long Island, NY, which in the end would enable the American Army's survival, re-staging to over winter in Pennsylvania and rebuilding in 1777-78 into an effective fighting command composed of Continental Army soldiers. That's one hick of a "historic" claim, if you buy it!

When, I further investigated the Honeyman -historical legend documented & posted: Jun 20, 2008 by the Center for the Study of (American) Intelligence, Washington, DC's online service, it characterized "The Strange Case of John Honeyman and Revolutionary War Espionage," as logically, no spy ... with key parts of his biographic legend that were historically, undocumented. However, turning to another knowledgeable source, I read excerpts from Spies, Patriots, and Traitors written in 2014 by Kenneth A. Daigler and publ., by Georgetown Univ. Press.

Daigler was somewhat acquiescent in his work and viewed the spy John Honeyman's action, although undocumented to be quite detailed and fit well with the information known about the tactical situation at Trenton before the battle. Still in the opinion of many, including me -there hardly is enough proof of Honeyman's role before the battle of Trenton and any American intelligence contribution.<sup>3</sup>

Unfortunately, Col. Johann Rall's authoritative contribution could be neither recorded nor written as he was killed in action during the battle at Trenton and allegedly an informant's note was found in a pocket by Patriots!

In all foreign counterintelligence gathering matters involving a lack of substantive proof, speculation and innuendo, it is wise never to gamble unless you were commanding the situation and present to make a judgement call. Yet nagging at me, is a lack of determination for the record of payment to John Honeyman by Gen. Washington or a trusted American officer including Capt. Alexander Hamilton. Did Honeyman sell to the Hessians and British so many livestock & cattle to continue his welcome for several years to come in a theater of war, one also might ask. There are too many unanswered questions for Patriot historians, yet by common law of New Jersey, an argument exists that Honeyman was certainly a military fugitive.
